Due to Thursday night's power outage and the uncertainty of power throughout the county, the superintendent of the San Diego County Office of Education directed all public schools, including those in the Carlsbad Unified School District, to close Friday, Sept. 9. The district reports some Carlsbad Unified campuses did not have power as of 6 a.m. Friday.

Students and teachers were notified not to report to school. All Kids Care programs were closed Friday as well.

Administrators and support staff, including district office employees, office staff, custodians, maintenance, grounds, and food service staff, did report to work.

District Superintendent John A. Roach, Ed.D., stated: "We are currently working to restore power, alarm systems and communications systems, remove any spoiled food from refrigerators, and reset all systems so that all schools can open safely on Monday, Sept. 12."

The district will communicate with families and staff through Blackboard Connect, the district website, Twitter and Facebook
